

NAME: _____

CLASS: _____

Did Noor Inayat Khan deserve to be awarded the George
Cross in 1949?

TALK

Discuss the following extract - what are your opinions of what you have read? Is getting the George Cross or having a public statue about you the greatest honour?

Statue honours Indian secret agent killed at concentration camp

Princess Anne unveils monument to Noor Inayat Khan, who died at Dachau in 1944 and won posthumous George Cross

Maev Kennedy

The Guardian, Thursday 8 November 2012

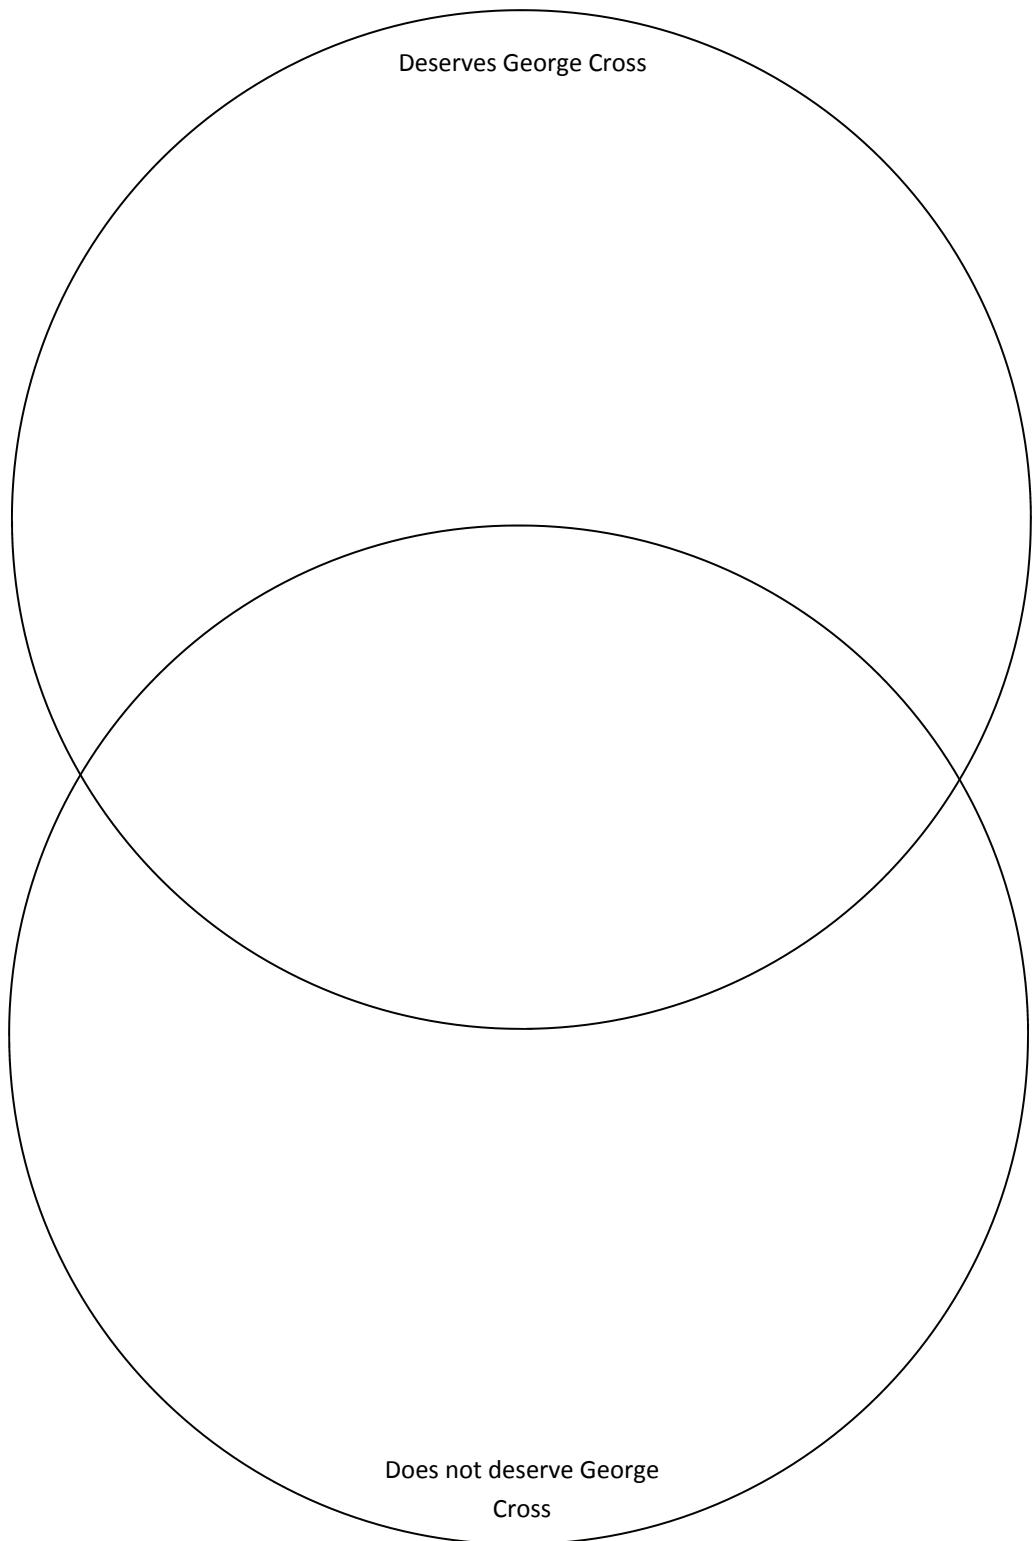

In the winter of 1942 only the striking beauty of the young Indian woman reading a book on a London park bench in her lunch hour would have seemed exceptional.

A statue has now been unveiled by Princess Anne near the bench in Gordon Square, commissioned by a small group determined that the extraordinary story of Noor Inayat Khan, a gentle artistic intellectual who became a secret agent in occupied France and died aged 30 in Dachau concentration camp, should not be forgotten.

"The family is pleased – of course – honoured and touched," said Noor's cousin Mahmood Khan van Goens Youskine, who came from his home in the Netherlands for the ceremony along with family, friends, supporters and veterans from Germany, France, Russia and the United States. "This is a beautiful place to remember her story." He was a boy of 12 when he last saw his cousin, but he remembers her vividly. "She made a tremendous impression on everyone who met her. She was such an intelligent, charming, dainty girl," he said, "and so beautiful. She was her father's eldest child, and so much was expected of her."

ORGANISE VISUALLY

Complete the venn diagram below:

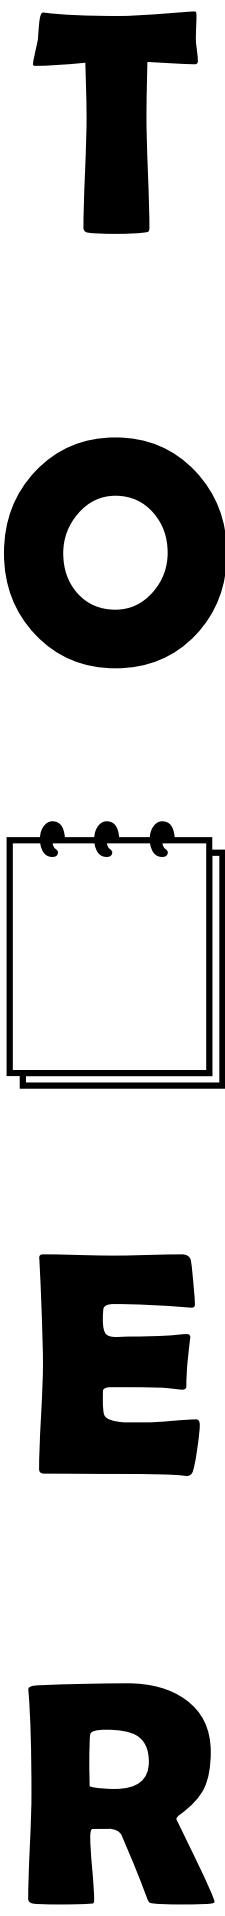

Success Criteria:

1. (target from previous assessment)
- 2.
- 3.

T
W
E
R

WRITE an answer to the question below...

Did Noor Inayat Khan deserve to be awarded the George Cross in 1949?

EDIT

T

O

W

R

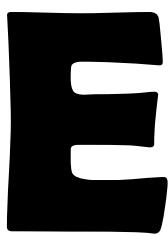

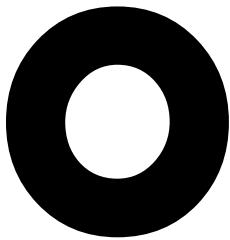

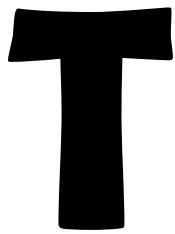

What has gone well?

What could be improved?

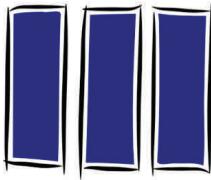

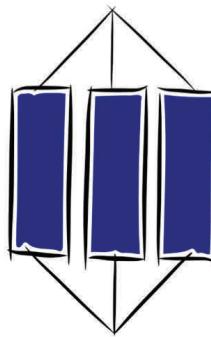

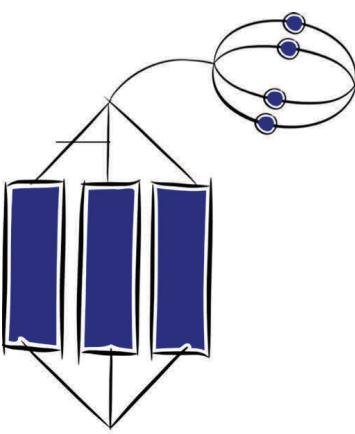

Principles from critique:

REFLECTION

Write a second draft of your answer to the question below...

SOLO Taxonomy Feedback Sheet:

SOLO level	Description
Pre-structural 	There is no answer. OR The answer misses the point; but there are written words, sometimes even historical but not relevant to question.
Unistructural 	The answer makes some comment about the topic, but it does not directly answer the question. OR The answer offers a description or definition of one key idea or relevant concept KEY WORDS: was, says,
Multistructural 	The answer contains lots of facts or ideas, that simply explained and are probably not backed up by evidence. The ideas and facts are not linked together. KEY WORDS: because
Relational 	The answer shows how facts or ideas are connected. Usually, this will involve creating factors or simple arguments. All points will be explained and relate to the question. KEY WORDS: this led, this means that, this suggests that, on the other hand
Extended Abstract 	An extended answer that directly answers the question, drawing conclusions from a range of well supported factors or arguments. The answer is communicated in the third person and offers judgements about the topic. KEY WORDS: however, more important, interpretation, it is possible to argue that

HOW WOULD YOU CHANGE YOUR ANSWER IF THE QUESTION WAS...

(about cause and consequence)

“What were the consequences of Noor Inayat Khan becoming a S.O.E. operative?”

TOP TIPS FOR THE NEXT SIGNIFICANCE ASSESSMENT:

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.
- 4.